

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The resin sealing apparatus includes a mold that has a main cavity into which a portion of a semiconductor device to be sealed with a resin is disposed. Furthermore, an external-shape regulating member is detachably accommodated in the main cavity of the mold to form a new cavity inside the main cavity.